What is the Redistricting Program?

The 2010 Census results will make this year's electoral redistricting process a crucial battleground for equality, democracy, and civic participation. The redistricting program is designed to empower minority communities by giving them the tools to promote progressive electoral redistricting efforts by engaging community organizations and experts in the redistricting process.

Agenda:

- I. Why community involvement is vital in the redistricting process?
- II. What tools are needed for a fair process?
- III. Redistricting logistics
 - a. How does the process work generally and in SC?
 - b. What are the laws that apply?
 - c. How does the technology work?
- IV. Demographic changes in the state/local area
- V. What does community involvement look like?
Examples: Maps, public testimony, etc...
- VI. Q&A

Registration:

Registration is free and open to everyone interested in defending voting rights and minority representation. Lunch provided.
